B. Ordinance 330 – Declaring a Temporary State of Emergency

Mayor Riggs states that in order to have flexibility, there needs to be as many people delegated to make decisions as possible. It starts with the City Manager, Assistant City Manager or any of the councilmembers. The City attorney drafted the Ordinance. The purpose of declaring a state of emergency is to get in line if there is federal or state funding to be had to protect the citizens.

Discussion on whether the Mayor should be the first in line to make decisions and whether having the attorney amend the Ordinance is important enough to delay the decision and put us further behind for governmental assistance. Assistant City Manager Lori Longfellow asks to take a break to make a call to the City Attorney.

Mayor Riggs calls for a 5-minute recess.

Mayor Riggs calls the meeting back in session at 9:34 a.m.

Assistant City Manager Lori Longfellow confirmed during the recess with City Attorney that the amendments can be approved effective immediately.

Mayor Riggs has the consensus of the council that the Ordinance will pass in one meeting. Mayor Riggs then reads the proposed Ordinance 330 in its entirety followed by reading Ordinance 330 by title only including amendments verbatim.
